Classic and modern vintage fountain pens.
Period 2000 - 2010

Based in the Haut – Jura, a rugged and beautiful region close to Switzerland, the Jean-Pierre Lépine firm constantly pushes new boundaries in its pursuit of new shapes and technological inventions to make writing instruments, self winding watches and accessories in which the imagination knows no bounds.

Benjamin Lépine with his computers and 3D graphics software generates the ideas and builds and develops the shapes which he then refines down to the last micron. Every item in their catalogue is manufactured in their own workshops. The articles are machined from a single piece, designed in precious resins, brass, aluminium, methacrylate, acetate, gold, silver, rare woods, stainless steel or using cutting edge technologies and then put through a series of complex operations to achieve a perfect finish.

A close committed technical team with expertise and a culture of luxury passed down through four generations, combining the Jura tradition of ingenuity and Swiss tradition of quality, use their craftsman's hands to produce remarkable objects like magicians.
